

Email Scheduler

RGB Technologies Lets You Schedule Outgoing Mail With Ease!

The need to schedule outgoing email is an important one. It helps to stay connected with your customers, and to communicate on their time frame. Handling reminders, regular broadcasts, or simply emailing a customer when you know they will receive it – these things are all made possible by scheduling emails.

Unlike the other message scheduling systems though, Email Scheduler for Salesforce does not require the use of a pre-set template for every email (though it is always an option), making your communications more personal, and far more effective when sending unique, individual messages.

Email Scheduler for Salesforce is intuitive, easy to use, and it doesn't require any additional software. The application, developed natively on the Force.com platform, uses your Salesforce's robust outbound email architecture, providing confidence in message delivery. With no additional user-end software and logical, simple controls, scheduling your emails has never been easier!

“Scheduling my emails has never been this straightforward. I was able to customize my message, set the time to send, and I was done. Email Scheduler is simple and yet powerful!”

Email Scheduler allows you to:

- Send one-time or recurring emails at a date and time you determine
- Use existing Salesforce email templates in your scheduled transmissions
- Contact customers and clients during peak times to maximize open rates
- Manage your existing scheduled emails – edit or delete at any time
- Use your existing Salesforce contacts and leads
- Record sent messages within your Activities for easy reporting
- Incorporate HTML or plain-text emails
- Manage automatic BCC preferences
- Use the email process you are familiar with, incorporating easy scheduling with just a few clicks
- Save time and effort on recurring customer emails
